

DEMOGRAPHY FALL 2001 BROWN BAG SERIES

August 29: Ray Catalano, Public Health, UC Berkeley, Detecting the Effect of Medical Care on Mortality.

September 5: Elisabeth Sadoulet, Agricultural and Resource Economics, UC Berkeley, The Role of Labor Market Opportunities in Explaining School Attendance. (by Elisabeth Sadoulet, Frederico Finan and Alain de Janvry)

September 12: Ronald Lee (with Josh Goldstein), Dept. of Demography, UC Berkeley, Rescaling the Life Cycle: Longevity and Proportionality.

September 19: Janet Currie, Dept. of Economics (UCLA) and NBER, Accidents Will Happen? Unintentional Childhood Injuries and Child Care Policy. (by Janet Currie and V. Joseph Hotz)

September 26: Ian Timaeus, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, Mortality in South Africa: From Apartheid to AIDS.

October 3: Gene Hammel, Dept. of Demography, UCB, and Mirjana Stevanovic, Archeological Research Facility, UCB, The Migrations of Serbs and Albanians in and Between Kosovo and Inner Serbia, c 1930-81.

October 10: Douglas Almond, Dept. of Economics, UC Berkeley, Early Childhood Conditions and Later Life Mortality in the US.

October 17: Edward Miguel, Dept. of Economics, UC Berkeley, Did Industrialization Destroy Social Capital in Indonesia?

October 24: Jennifer Johnson-Hanks, Dept. of Demography, UCB, Systems, Causes and Rates: Units of Analysis in the Study of African Fertility.

October 31: Lorenzo Blanco, Dept. of Economics, UCB, The Fertility of Immigrant Women: Selectivity and Assimilation.

November 7: Clementine Rossier, Dept. of Demography, UC Berkeley, A New Method to Estimate the Rate of Illegal Induced Abortion? Results from Rural Burkina Faso.

November 14: Dr. Nancy Padian, UCSF, AIDS Research Institute, Gender Equality and Reproductive Health.

November 21: no Brown Bag seminar today, Happy Thanksgiving!

November 28: Ryan Edwards, Dept. of Economics, UC Berkeley, Health Risk and Portfolio Choice.

December 5: Gene Hammel and Ken Wachter, Dept. of Demography, UCB, The Friend We Have Lost, The Understanding We Have Gained: Peter Laslett, In Memoriam.